

“Carriers searching for lower TCO will see the immediate benefits by applying rules and tools based logic throughout their organization.”

Chad Hersh,
Principal at Novarica's Insurance Practice

Rules Engine

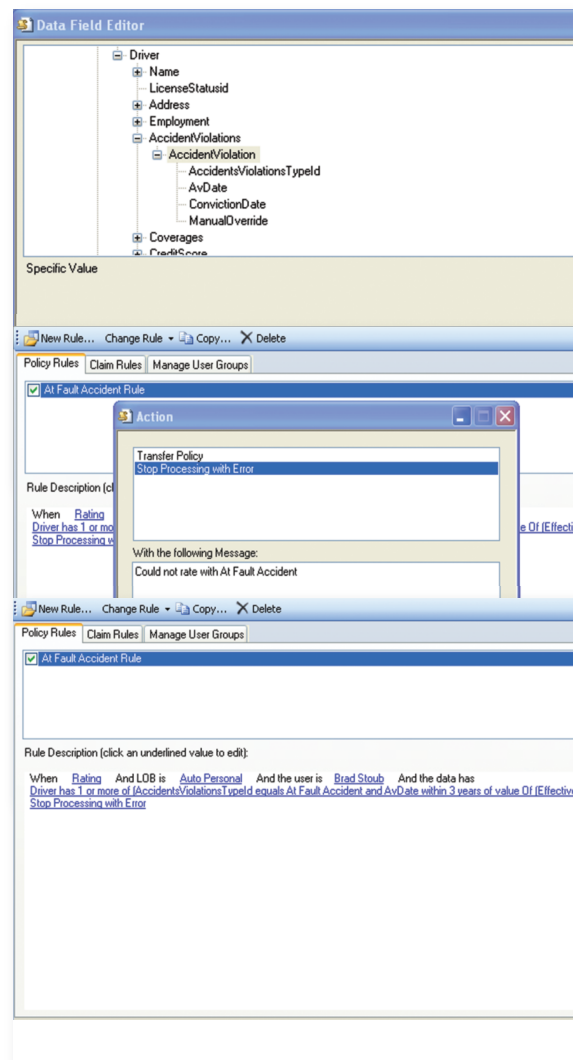

An end-user tool that enables non-technical users to implement rating and underwriting rules, create work flow items, create notes and validations.

With the rules engine, carriers can:

- Limit the conditions under which a policy or claims transaction can be submitted or issued.
- Govern conditions where one rule does not apply to all users.
- Define rules by title or workgroup.
- Maintain a repository of rules and effective dates using asset manager.

Carrier benefits include:

- Reduced TCO and high ROI achievable through open architecture and rapid integration with host system.
- Increased speed to market facilitated by intuitive rule authoring tool and easy deployment.
- Reduced or removed reliance on IT departments for code changes.
- Increased control over business decisions using carrier specific business logic.
